EAT CRAWLERS- FOOD IMPORT

Eat Crawlers is one of the first businesses in New Zealand of its kind, currently specialising in the novelty food market. Established 6 years ago, Matt and Dan established Eat Crawlers after recognising a need for a niche product in the New Zealand market for a business selling a novelty food product. As this business developed, and after undergoing consumer education about the benefits of eating insect based products, they had grown a market that was wanting, and ready for more main stream products and Tomorrow Foods was also launched. Cricket flour and other consumer ready products were made using cricket flour. This business has legs with massive growth potential to expand with more mainstream products. There is currently no competition, and there is a good client base. This business currently only requires 1 day a week, for one person.
